Good old Saint Patrick is not to be overlooked, for society is to fittingly celebrate the day. Mrs. Henry C. Lockett has chosen Tuesday to introduce her daughters, Miss Virginia Lockett and Miss Nettie Lockett, and the tea at which they will make their formal bow to the fashionable world will in every way be suggestive of the season. The decorations will, of course, be in vivid green, with countless convicts to carry out the idea. The Lockett country place on the Black Canyon road is attractive unadorned and will present a pretty scene in its additional splendor. Mrs. William Pinney, Mrs. Fred Woolsey, Mrs. H. E. Campbell and Mrs. Otto Plath will assist in receiving. In the evening Mrs. Lockett will hold open house, when the residents of the neighborhood will have the opportunity of meeting the charming debutantes.

There were few events on Wednesday, for the day has been practically given over to the Country club. The most recent tennis luncheon attracted a large contingent from town, among whom were Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers, Mrs. Warren McArthur, Mrs. Herbert Burr Atha, Mrs. David Goldberg, Mrs. Harry Kay, Mrs. Roy Parsons, Mrs. Webb Griffen, Mrs. Sidney J. Ross, Mrs. Isaac Taft Stoddard, Mrs. Fen Hildreth, Mrs. Evans-Darby, Mrs. J. W. Crenshaw, Mrs. F. H. Eames, Miss Ruth Ainsworth, Miss Eleanor Sloan, Miss Margaret Bryan, Miss Harriet Hurley, Miss Pearl Stauffer, Miss Jessie Higley and Miss Selma Goldberg. They were joined at tea by Robert Beardsley, W. G. Harriman, William Coleman Rogers, William A. Harrell, Arthur Ainsworth and Stephen Jennings.

A moonlight picnic to Paradise Valley was a jolly event of the early week. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Allen, Mrs. H. F. Latham, Mrs. William Hunsack, Miss M. E. Layrich, Miss Ruth Ainsworth and C. S. Whitbeck.

Miss Betty Talcott, who was a great social favorite when she visited here from Tucson in January, will entertain with a house party this week. The Phoenix guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher, Miss Margaret Bryan, Robert Beardsley and William Coleman Rogers, who plan to leave town tomorrow. The Talcotts have an attractive place at Oracle and there the charming hostess will entertain her guests until Tuesday, when the president's ball of the Old Pueblo club will attract the pleasure-loving contingent to town. There are innumerable functions scheduled for the week with Mrs. Lescher and Miss Bryan for the incentive.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Bartlett are interesting visitors who arrived from Chicago Friday and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight B. Heard, of Casa Blanca, for several weeks. Mr. Bartlett, who is a brother of Mrs. Heard, is an artist of note. He studied many years in Paris and Munich, and since returning to this country has made an enviable reputation as an interior decorator. He is particularly famous for his decoration of the Chicago city hall and the New Fourth Presbyterian church, which is now being completed. Mrs. Bartlett is greatly interested in civics and is a prominent member of the progressive party.

Car. They were among the first fashionable folk to take up their residence on the east side, and have a lovely home on North Seventh street, which is well adapted for entertaining. They are, as usual, planning to pass the summer in Northern Arizona, at Mr. Young's gold mines, the Derby.

The golf tournament at the Ingleside club yesterday brought out a large contingent from town. The members of the Country club were entertained charmingly by their rivals and hosts, a tea in the afternoon being followed by a beautiful and picturesque al fresco supper, to which a congenial cortege from Phoenix were invited. The tables were placed in the olive grove. From the great branches hung a bewildering number of gay Japanese lanterns, producing a riot of splendid coloring, with an effect altogether charming. Auction and the tango were the evening's amusements. The hostesses included Mrs. Clayton Ingraham, Mrs. William Charters, Mrs. John Witherspoon, Mrs. Alfred Hine, Mrs. J. H. Rubell, Mrs. S. E. Marshall, Mrs. Theodore Miller, Mrs. F. E. Chamberlain, Mrs. S. E. Shirus, Mrs. L. H. Parker and Miss Grace Witherspoon.

The vaudeville to be given this week for the Associated Charities will undoubtedly net a large sum for the cause. Not alone for the fact that the beneficiary is the most deserving in the world, but that the program will be worth the support of Phoenix. The committee arranging the numbers, which will be of the highest standard obtainable, Roy S. Goodrich is president of the Associated Charities. Judge Ernest Lewis, first vice-president; J. E. Cleveland, second vice-president; Charles Osburn, secretary; Hugh D.

Hurley made the highest score. The members include Mrs. Ely, Mrs. Charles McArthur, Mrs. J. E. Alhira, Miss Hurley, Miss Eleanor Sloan, Miss Marion Dorris, Miss Mabel Hocker and Miss Katherine Kennan. This week's gathering will be held with Miss Hurley.

Mrs. George Purdy Bullard presided over a charming luncheon at the Arizona club Wednesday. Pink carnations and greenery formed the table's centerpiece and the flower and fern combination made the pretty cottage favors. Mrs. Bullard's guests, who numbered four, later in the afternoon enjoyed a rubber of auction at her North Central avenue residence.

In honor of Mrs. L. W. Wallace and Mrs. Horace Knowles, who left Thursday for California, Mrs. Royal Lescher, who has been their hostess for a fortnight, gave a luncheon on the day of their departure that ranked among the most delightful of spring festivities. There were many regrets that the affair was in the nature of a farewell, for the honored guests made a host of friends during their brief stay in Phoenix. The Lescher residence on North Central avenue was lovely in its embellishment of pink and white. The table's decoration was of sweet peas and dainty cards marked places for ten.

The dinner given Tuesday evening by President Gordon Tweed, of the Country club, and Mrs. Tweed, chairman of the entertainment committee, was one of the conspicuously smart events of the week. It was a gay celebration in honor of the success of "Christopher, Jr." and the complimented guests were the players and the director, Mattland Davies. The table appointments were exquisite. The central ornament was of daffodils, a great cluster made more artistic by the loops and bows of soft golden toned tulle that intermingled. At either end were similar, though smaller, floral features. Candles were shaded to heighten the golden color scheme. At auction that followed, the prizes were won by Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Charles C. Stanley, Louis H. Chalmers and Homer King. Besides the cast, and Mr. and Mrs. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Homer King, Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers and Miss Selma Goldberg, of the entertainment committee, enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Tweed's hospitality.

Dr. A. J. Chandler gave a dinner-dance at the San Marcos Friday evening in honor of the students of the Evans school. Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher championed the affair, and those who motored to Chandler with them for the event were Miss Rema Dorris, Miss Margaret Bryan, Miss Marion Dorris, Miss Katherine Kennan and Miss Harriet Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dorris and Mrs. C. E. Crandall chaperoned a jolly picnic supper Thursday evening given at the country place of Frank Lang and Dan Patch, of Peoria. In the party were Miss Rema Dorris,

Miss Kate Wilson, Miss Marion Dorris, Miss Mabel Hocker, Miss Selma Goldberg, Irving de R. Miller, Roy Murray, Lester Byron, William A. Horrell and William Lewis.

Miss Ruth Rose is a recent charming arrival from the east, who will be here until the first of May. She is the guest of her brother, John Kinkor Kibbey, of 315 West Culver street.

Society will be disappointed to learn of the approaching departure of Miss Margaret Bryan, who will leave the first of April for California, going later to Denver for a few weeks, before returning to her home in Annapolis. Miss Bryan has been here since autumn, the guest of Mrs. Royal Lescher, and is one of the most popular girls in the exclusive set.

The Country club gave an auction Thursday evening, the prizes being won by Mrs. A. B. Nichols and Earl Tuttle Hazelett. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Chalmers, Judge and Mrs. Richard E. Sloan, Judge and Mrs. C. F. Ainsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Fen Hildreth, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tuttle Hazelett, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brewster, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Russell, Mrs. Isaac Taft Stoddard, Mrs. Warren McArthur, J. P. Callisero, James Freeland and F. H. Freeland.

Hon. George Craig and Mrs. Craig, of Bisbee, arrived in Phoenix early in the week. Dr. Craig returned to his home Thursday, while Mrs. Craig will be here for an indefinite period, the guest of Mrs. H. D. McVey, of the Loux. Mrs. McVey but recently returned to town from Tucson, where she passed a fortnight. She will entertain the Betimes club Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. Craig will be the guest of honor.

The round robin tennis tournament, which attracted many to the Country club yesterday, will be concluded today. The entertainment committee will give a tea in the afternoon, complimentary to the Ingleside club.

One of the pleasant week-end affairs was the dinner with which Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher entertained at the Country club. Covers were arranged for eight.

Mrs. Homer King, Mrs. Gordon Tweed and Mrs. W. K. James were the guests of Mrs. W. J. Kingsbury of Tempe, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren McArthur, Jr., of North Central avenue, had as dinner guests Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Lescher, Mrs. C. R. Bosche, Mrs. L. W. Wallace, Mrs. Horace Knowles and Miss Margaret Bryan.

Mrs. Daniel Francis and her brother, John Jamison, returned Monday from a week-end in Tucson.

Miss Emma Thalheimer, a popular bride-elect, was the guest of honor at a pretty card afternoon, given Thursday by Mrs. J. T. Hein, of North Second street. A pink and white color scheme was used in decoration and was charmingly carried out. Broad satin ribbons of the chosen shade were festooned from the corners to the center of the room, where they held a great white wedding bell. Pink and white carnations filled tall vases here and there, and on the tea tables were dainty May baskets. Six tables of guests were present and the prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Greenbaum, Mrs. Russell Warner, Mrs. Fred Dummel and Miss Thalheimer.

Mrs. Anna Anderson, Mrs. J. M. Evans and Dr. Ray, who are touring the United States, left Friday evening for Chicago, after a week's stay in town.

Hon. George Craig and Mrs. Craig were the luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fennimore, at the Arizona club, on Thursday.

Miss Jessie Higley, a popular debutante of the season, gave an exquisitely appointed luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Herbert Burr Atha, Jr., and Miss Pearl Stauffer. Yellow was the color chosen to decorate and it was conceived in quantities of gorgeous poppies and daffodils. Yellow tulle was intertwined in the blossoms that filled a basket that was the table's central adornment. Flowers featured the hand-painted place cards. Asked to greet Mrs. Atha and Miss Stauffer were Mrs. Sims Ely, Jr., Mrs. Thomas Higley, Mr. Herbert L. Stevenson, Miss Marion Dorris, Miss Adalissa Wilson, Miss Rema Dorris, Miss Thelma Francis, Miss Ruth Griffin, Miss Ethel McDermott, Miss Elizabeth Jones, Miss Helen Clark, of Los Angeles, Miss Beattie Ensign, Miss Lillian Griffin, Miss Nellie Teasdale, Miss Dorothy Bacon and Miss Ruby Pascoe.
